PROPOSAL OVERVIEW

Connecting Brands with Rural India Through Transit Media

The Opportunity

India's rural and semi-urban markets have become critical to growth for almost every category of consumer, agricultural, financial and government-led brand. Yet conventional approaches to reaching these markets — haats, melas, van campaigns and puppet shows — are fragmented, difficult to measure and increasingly expensive relative to the reach they deliver.

The Consumer Movement

A closer study of rural travel patterns shows that residents of rural and semi-urban India routinely travel to their district and taluka headquarters for everyday needs, and that this movement happens predominantly by rail and by State Transport (S.T.) bus. Given the scale and penetration of the State Transport bus network, bus stations emerge as one of the most efficient and cost-effective hubs through which to reach the rural consumer.

Bus stations sit at the intersection of urban and rural India. Every passenger waiting for, or travelling on, a State Transport bus is a captive listener — which is why Vritti iMedia's guiding principle is simple:

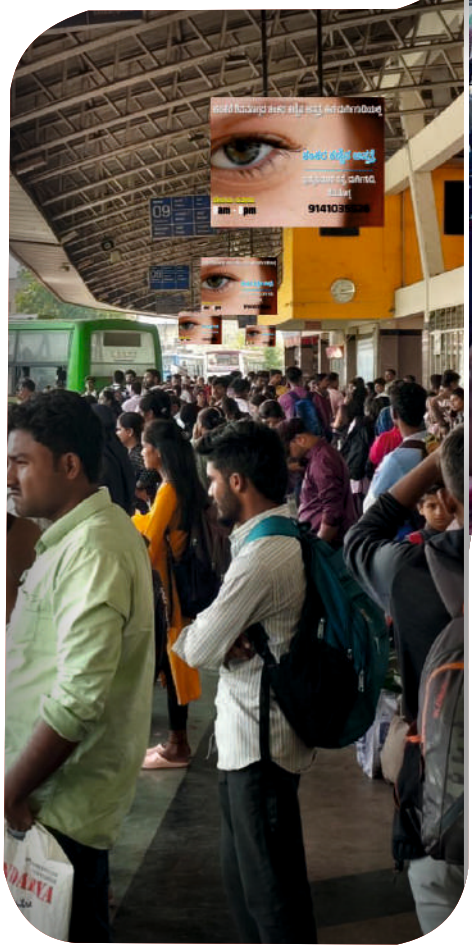

"A Passenger is a Buyer."

The Proposed Solution

This proposal presents Vritti iMedia's Audio and Audiovisual advertising solution — branded as Audiowala Bus Stand — deployed across S.T. bus stations in eight states of India, and outlines the coverage, reach and bus stand network available for your campaign.

ABOUT US

Vritti iMedia is the media arm of Vritti Solutions Limited, an IT and media company operating since 1993. Vritti Solutions has been instrumental in developing computerised Bus Announcement Systems — the Passenger Announcement System and Passenger Information System (PAS & PIS) — for State Road Transport Corporations across India, an innovation that today replaces manual bus-departure announcements at 8 major State Road Transport Corporations.

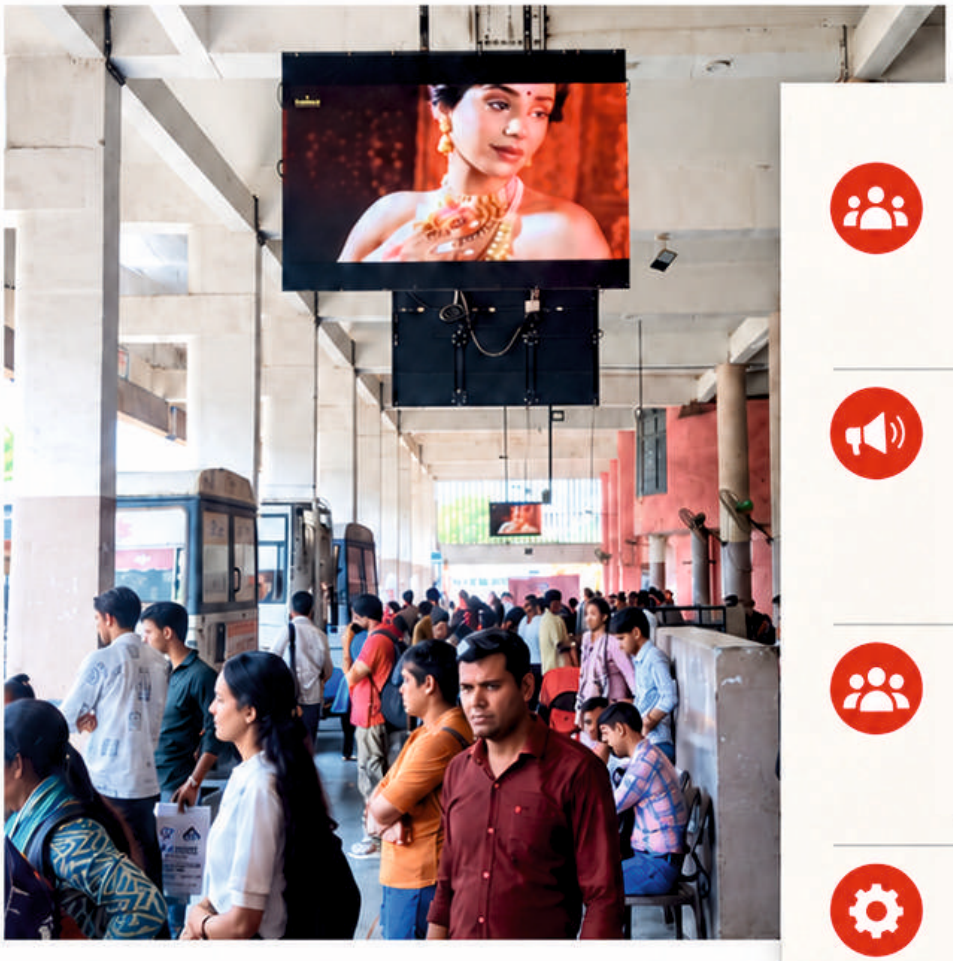

Recognising the sustained attention that PAS & PIS commands from every commuter, Vritti iMedia integrates Audio and Audiovisual commercial advertisements into the announcement system. These are aired at regular intervals through the working hours of the PAS & PIS, giving advertisers a cost-effective and assured way to connect with the rural and semi-urban mass market.

Vritti iMedia SM
The Gateway to Rural

State Transport bus stations offer advertisers a rare combination of scale, captivity and cost-efficiency that few other rural media can match:

SCALE
Bus stations function as the meeting point between urban supply chains and rural demand — thousands of passengers pass through every day.

CAPTIVE AUDIENCE
Passengers waiting for their bus are a captive audience for the announcement system, ensuring mandatory and guaranteed listening for every advertisement aired alongside it.

LOCAL CONNECTION
The medium reaches rural and semi-urban populations in their own local languages and dialects, supporting genuine local sales recall.

CENTRAL CONTROL
Because the system is IT-controlled and centrally monitored, advertisement delivery is consistent, unrestricted and cannot be tampered with manually.

WHY BUS STATIONS:
THE CAMPAIGN RATIONALE

Vritti iMedia has built its Audiowala Bus Stand solution around this insight, using what it calls "Suddha Desi Mass Communication"—an authentically local approach designed to capture the attention of the rural buyer at exactly the moment they are receptive to it.

PROPOSED ADVERTISING SOLUTION

Vritti iMedia offers advertisers two complementary formats within the Audiowala Bus Stand network, both delivered through the same PAS & PIS infrastructure already trusted by State Road Transport Corporations.

Audio Advertising

Commercial audio spots are aired alongside bus arrival and departure announcements, reaching every passenger within approximately a 100-metre radius of the bus station. Audio remains the core format across all eight states and is especially effective in reaching illiterate and semi-literate rural audiences in their local language.

Audio Visual Advertising

At select metro, district andtaluka-level bus stations, Vritti iMedia supplements audio with LED and TV screen displays, giving brands a combined audio-visual presence at India's busiest rural transit points. Display formats and screen sizes vary by station category, as detailed in the Bus Stand Summary and Bus Stand List sections of this proposal.

MEDIUM FACTS & USPS

- A mass medium connecting to rural, semi-urban and urban populations in their local languages and dialects.
- Delivers brand awareness & local sales recall even among illiterate and semi-literate audiences, through audio-first messaging
- Mandatory, guaranteed listening — the advertisement is coupled directly with the bus departure announcement passengers are already waiting to hear.
- Strong penetration and recall in rural and media-dark areas of Maharashtra, Goa, Karnataka, Punjab, Rajasthan, Himachal Pradesh, Haryana and Gujarat.
- An IT-controlled medium that cannot be tampered with manually, and is approved by the Directorate of Advertising & Visual Publicity CBC (DAVP).

- On-air daily from 6:00 AM to 10:00 PM.
- A fresh audience approximately every 30 minutes, as passenger footfall turns over through the day.
- Audible across a 100-metre periphery of the bus station, with 100% battery backup ensuring uninterrupted operation.
- Advertisement release is centrally controlled and monitored from Vritti iMedia's control room.
- Coverage spans almost all districts, major talukas, market places, pilgrimage centres and holiday destinations across the eight states.
- On average, each station reaches 25,000–40,000 people every day — an aggregate of roughly 349* million passengers reached every month.
